In this booklet, pupils will practice key historical skills related to source analysis, interpretation, extended writing and research that will help them develop into capable historians ready for their GCSE exams and the real world.

Using the map of Africa to help you, write down how many countries did Great Britain had?

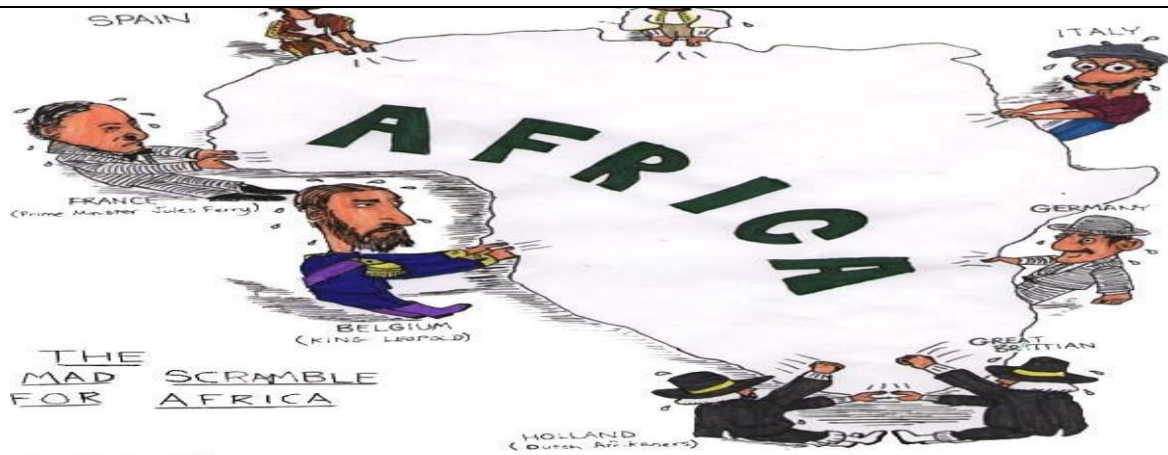

Why were African territories important to the British? (Think of why India was important to the British Empire)

Which African resources were the British Empire wanted

Source A: Scramble for Africa.

What can we learn from Source A about why are these European countries pulling Africa apart?

Pick two details from the source and explain them.
